

Riding the bus will be
different

a covid-19 related story

Because of Coronavirus (or COVID-19), riding the bus will
be a little different this year.

When I am waiting to get on the bus, I need to stay 6 feet away from my friends.

I should also keep my distance when going up the stairs into the bus. One at a time.

Someone might take my
temperature before I get on
the bus.

Someone might take my
temperature when I get
to school.

When I get on the bus, I
will need to put on
some hand sanitizer.

When I sit down, only
one person to a seat!

BARRIER

The bus driver might be behind a clear piece of plastic. This is called a barrier. A barrier helps protect us all from germs.

© Autism Little Learners

There might be a helper on the bus to show me where to sit and to give me hand sanitizer.

© Autism Little Learners

If I need to cough, I should
try to cough into my elbow.

One new thing, is that I might
need to wear a mask
on the bus.

My bus driver might be wearing
a mask or face shield while he
or she drives. It's okay!

When I get off the bus, I
still need to keep my distance.
One at a time.

I can handle this change.
It will be so fun to be back
at school!

These changes on the bus will
stay until there is less Coronavirus
in the world.

Riding the
bus will be
different

a covid-19 related story

Because of Coronavirus (or COVID-19), riding the bus will
be a little different this year.

When I am waiting to get on the bus, I need to stay 6 feet away from my friends.

I should also keep my distance when going up the stairs into the bus. One at a time.

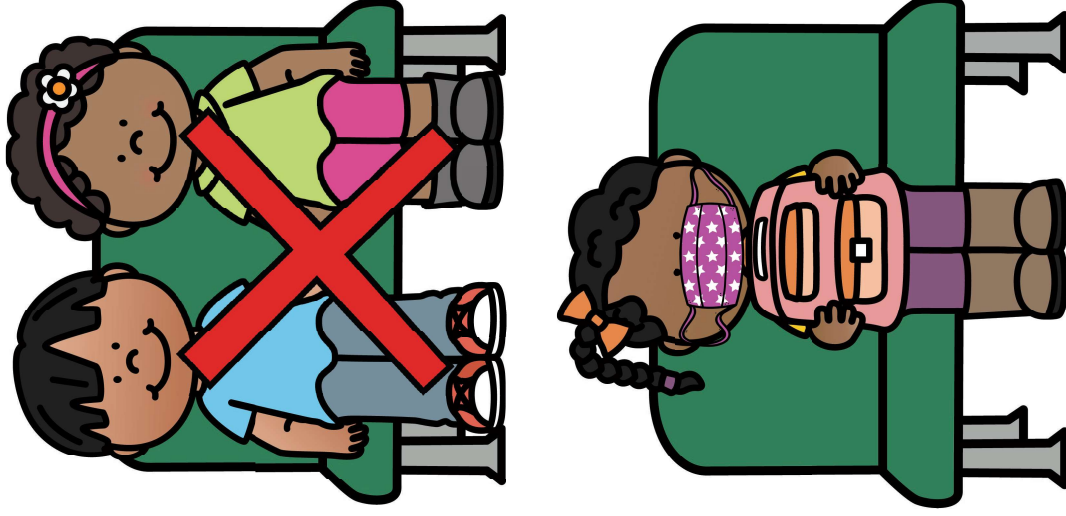

Someone might take my
temperature before I get on
the bus.

Someone might take my
temperature when I get
to school.

When I get on the bus, I
will need to put on
some hand sanitizer.

When I sit down, only
one person to a seat!

BARRIER

The bus driver might be behind a clear piece of plastic. This is called a barrier. A barrier helps protect us all from germs.

© Autism Little Learners

There might be a helper on the bus to show me where to sit and to give me hand sanitizer.

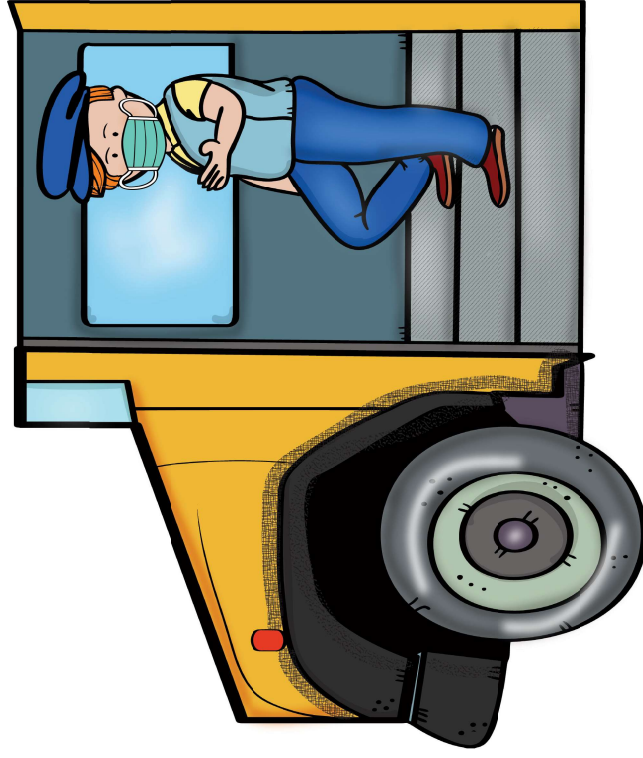

© Autism Little Learners

If I need to cough, I should
try to cough into my elbow.

One new thing, is that I might
need to wear a mask
on the bus.

My bus driver might be wearing
a mask or face shield while he
or she drives. It's okay!

When I get off the bus, I
still need to keep my distance.
One at a time.

These changes on the bus will
stay until there is less Coronavirus
in the world.

I can handle this change.
It will be so fun to be back
at school!